1:30 pm to 4 pm and 5 pm to 7:30 pm

Dustin was diagnosed with MDS (myelodysplastic syndrome) in April. In May we learned that he had found a match and would have a stem cell transplant in the coming weeks. At his consultation appointment he was admitted to the hospital with a virus. Little did we know the MDS and virus would stir a rare disease that would require hardcore chemo along with multiple blood transfusions. Dustin received well over 125 transfusions, 21 of which were received on his last day with us. Our goal, in Dustin's honour, is to replenish those 125 units (and then some) and to build the stem cell bank.
